

Cigarette Tax

SEPTMEBER 2011

This publication provides general information about the cigarette tax. It does not cover every aspect of the tax. In addition, it does not change or overrule any administrative regulation or ruling issued by the Department of Revenue.

DID YOU KNOW . . .

If you buy cigarettes in another state and bring them back to Washington, you may owe Washington taxes.

Cigarettes purchased at military installations also carry some restrictions.

If you possess untaxed cigarettes in Washington, you may be subject to penalties.

Note: An additional cigarette tax is collected by the United States government. The federal excise tax is normally collected when a manufacturer removes cigarettes from the factory or when an importer removes cigarettes from customs custody.

TAXES ON CIGARETTES

Washington imposes a cigarette tax on the sale, use, consumption, possession or distribution of cigarettes.

The Washington tax on a pack of 20 cigarettes is $3.025 and on a pack of 25 cigarettes is $3.78125. Cigarette wholesalers in Washington pay the tax by purchasing cigarette tax stamps. The wholesalers affix the stamps to cigarette packs to show proof of payment of the tax.

Cigarettes possessed in Washington are subject to cigarette tax and either the sales or use tax. Use tax is due on items that are used in Washington, including cigarettes, that are purchased without paying sales tax. Use tax is calculated in the same manner as the sales tax.

You are entitled to a credit for sales or use taxes paid to another state. There is no credit for cigarette taxes paid to another state.

When a consumer purchases cigarettes from a Washington retailer, the cigarette tax is included in the purchase price (tax stamp should be affixed to the package, see samples on pages 4 and 5) and the sales tax is collected.

UNTAXED CIGARETTE PURCHASES BY CONSUMERS

Effective July 26, 2009 it is illegal to ship or transport cigarettes ordered or purchased by mail or through the internet to anyone in Washington State other than a licensed cigarette retailer or wholesaler. Shipping or transporting of unstamped cigarettes ordered or purchased by mail or through the internet to a consumer is a class C felony (maximum fine of $5,000).

If a consumer buys cigarettes from an out-of-state retailer (i.e. while visiting Oregon or Idaho) or from an in-state tribal retailer (without a Washington or tribal tax paid stamp affixed), Washington's cigarette and use taxes must be paid directly to the Department of Revenue on a Tax Declaration for Cigarettes form within 72 hours of possession of the cigarettes. The tax declaration form is available on our web site dor.wa.gov or by calling 1-800-647-7706.

Keep a copy of the completed form and evidence of payment to support your legal possession of unstamped cigarettes. If you have unstamped cigarettes in your possession and you are stopped by law enforcement officers, you must have evidence with you that you intended to report and pay any taxes due, such as the completed tax declaration. If you do not have this evidence with you, the cigarettes will be considered contraband.

PENALTIES FOR POSSESSION OF UNTAXED CIGARETTES

Any untaxed cigarettes found in your possession are considered contraband and, under state law, are subject to seizure and forfeiture. You will be assessed cigarette tax, sales or use tax, a 5% assessment penalty and a remedial penalty at the greater of $250 or $10 per pack.

Possession of 50 cartons or less of untaxed cigarettes, without proper notice, authorization and documentation is a misdemeanor. Possession of more than 50 cartons, without proper notice, authorization and documentation is a class C felony.

TRIBAL RESERVATIONS

Most tribes collect tribal cigarette and sales tax in place of the state taxes pursuant to tax agreements between the tribes and the state. Anyone of legal age may purchase and possess cigarettes from tribal retailers covered by one of these contracts.

Enrolled tribal members may purchase cigarettes within their tribe's jurisdiction without paying state taxes. Some Native American tribes receive an allocation of tax exempt cigarettes for this purpose.

Tribal retailers are obligated to collect tax on sales to individuals who are not enrolled members of the tribe. If a state tax or a tribal tax is not collected, non-tribal members who purchase cigarettes on reservations must pay state cigarette and use taxes on their purchases. To remit the tax, see section on "untaxed cigarette purchases by consumers" on page 1.

MILITARY RESERVATIONS

If you are on active duty or retired military person, or a dependent, you are entitled to purchase cigarettes on military reservations for your own use without owing any state tax.

Military personnel are not allowed to purchase cigarettes to give or resell to others. The military may revoke your commissary and exchange privileges if you are caught doing so. Also, the person receiving the cigarettes will be subject to the taxes and penalties described on page 1.

Note: Cigarette sales at non-military retail outlets to military personnel are taxable.

CIGARETTE STAMPS

PROOF OF TAX PAID

In Washington, all cigarettes, except those sold on military reservations, should have a cigarette stamp affixed to the bottom of each pack. Washington State distributes stamps with serial numbers and various colors. Cigarettes on which Washington State cigarette taxes have been paid will have pink and blue stamps on 20-packs, and blue, white and silver stamps on 25-packs. Tax-exempt cigarettes sold on Indian reservations to tribal members will have green and white stamps labeled "Washington Tax Exempt."

Most tribes have signed contracts to sell cigarettes and are collecting tribal taxes in place of state taxes. All cigarettes sold by tribes under an agreement will have either a green compact stamp or their own tax stamp.

Purchases of tribally stamped cigarettes by non-tribal members are intended for personal use only and not for re-sale.

See pages four and five for samples of cigarette tax stamps.
