

WHAT TO EXPECT

The auditor will contact you to schedule an appointment. A date and time will then be agreed upon.

The audit may take place at the following locations:

- ▶ Your place of business.
- ▶ One of the Department's local offices.
- ▶ Your accountant's, attorney's, or other representative's office.

The audit relates to excise taxes you may pay on your excise tax returns, such as:

BUSINESS AND OCCUPATION TAX

RETAIL SALES TAX

USE TAX

PUBLIC UTILITY TAX

An audit of your business activities may cover several major areas, including:

INCOME

Verification of proper amounts, classifications, and documentation.

DEDUCTIONS AND EXEMPTIONS

Verification of proper amounts, classifications, and documentation.

PURCHASES

Verification of retail sales or use tax paid on capital assets, supplies, or articles manufactured for your own use.

PREPARING FOR AN AUDIT

The auditor will explain the records required for the review. Gather these before your meeting.

The audit period is usually for the past four calendar years, plus the current year through the end of the last completed calendar quarter.

The records requested may include the following:

- ▶ Washington State excise tax returns and workpapers.
- ▶ Federal income tax returns for the business.
- ▶ Summary accounting records and source journals, such as check registers, general ledger, sales journal, general journal, cash receipts journals, and other records used to record income and expenses.
- ▶ Sales invoices.
- ▶ Purchase invoices, such as accounts payable and receipts.
- ▶ Depreciation schedule and purchase invoices for assets acquired during the audit period.
- ▶ Reseller permits/resale certificates for wholesale sales.
- ▶ Supporting documentation for all deductions and exemptions.

Although most audits can be completed with the above records, additional documents may be requested.

Electronic Records

The auditor will use your electronic records, when available. This improves the accuracy of the audit and reduces the time it takes to complete, minimizing the inconvenience to you.

Sampling

Sampling is frequently used to realize efficiencies for both the Department and taxpayer. This helps minimize costs associated with the audit, such as retrieving and examining documents.

The auditor will discuss the options to select the most appropriate method.

Confidentiality

All information you provide will be maintained in strict confidence and is not available to the public. However, the Department has information-sharing agreements with the Internal Revenue Service and other state agencies.

We are committed to working with you in a professional and cooperative manner.

DURING AN AUDIT

The auditor will take a tour and/or observe your operations to get a better understanding of your business activities and accounting records.

The auditor will review those records and provide you with valuable information and instructions for future use.

The time to complete an audit varies upon the size of your business.

FINALIZING THE AUDIT

You will be notified of the audit findings. The auditor will explain any adjustment to you or your representative before finalizing the audit. If you have information we have not considered or believe a mistake has been made, please contact the auditor promptly.

IF YOU AGREE WITH THE ADJUSTMENTS

You have the option to prepay your assessment once the audit has been completed. Full payment will include the tax, any applicable penalties, and estimated interest. Since a full prepayment stops the accrual of interest, you will save money by making the payment early. Any questions you have about making a prepayment should be discussed with the auditor.

IF YOU DISAGREE WITH THE ADJUSTMENTS

You may request a meeting with the auditor's manager and review disputed issues.

IF AN AGREEMENT CANNOT BE REACHED

You have 30 days from the date the audit report is mailed to appeal to the Department's Appeals Division.

If you file an appeal prior to the assessment's due date, you should pay the unprotested amounts. Payment is not required for the protested amounts and will remain due pending the appeal. However, interest continues to accrue until taxes are paid in full.

If you file an appeal more than 30 days after the audit report is mailed, you must pay the total amount due and petition for refund.
