History

2015 The 25 percent marijuana excise taxes payable by marijuana producers and processors are eliminated. The 25 percent marijuana excise tax on retailers is modified by imposing the tax on the buyer of marijuana product. The rate is changed to 37 percent and applies to the final retail price of marijuana products subject to the tax.

2015 No marijuana excise tax exemptions were established, but the legislature created a retail sales and use tax exemption for qualifying patients holding a medical cannabis authorization card and their providers.

2014 Marijuana is excluded from certain tax preferences, including all agricultural tax preferences.

2012 Voters passed Initiative 502 legalizing recreational marijuana sales, processing, and production in Washington. I-502 also established a 25 percent excise tax on each level of production (producer to processor, processor to retailer, and retailer to consumer sales) in addition to requiring business and occupation taxes and state and local retail sales and use taxes.

1998 Voters passed Initiative 692, which permitted the use of marijuana for medical purposes by qualifying patients. No specific taxes were applied to medical marijuana.
